

Why Construction & Engineering

Construction & Engineering for Graduates when returning to Guernsey

Why Choose Construction as a Graduate?

1. Variety of Roles
2. High Demand
3. Good Pay
4. Fast Career Progression
5. Tangible Impact
6. Innovation
7. Leading in a low carbon future

Career Paths in Construction

 Site Management

 Quantity Surveying

 Design Engineering

 Project Management

 Building Services Engineering

 Architecture

 Civil Engineering

 Structural Engineering

Graduate Opportunities in Construction

-  Principal Contractors
-  Consultancies
-  Architectural Practices
-  Surveyors
-  Specialist (Sub) Contractors

What makes construction a rewarding career

“Construction offers more than pay, it builds communities, drives innovation, supports sustainability, and leaves a lasting legacy while growing your career.”

Professional Bodies in Construction and Engineering

“Your degree is just the start; professional qualifications unlock your potential. Many University courses are accredited, and Guernsey employers can support you in gaining recognition and advancing your career.”

Engineering Council (UK) – Regulatory body for engineering profession

CIBSE – Chartered Institution of Building Services Engineers

IET – Institution of Engineering and Technology

CIPHE – Chartered Institute of Plumbing and Heating Engineering

RICS – Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors

CIOB – Chartered Institute of Building

ICE – Institution of Civil Engineers

RIBA – Royal Institute of British Architects

Thank you

From the smallest local builder to the largest contracting firm, from roofers and plumbers to electricians, decorators, architects, and surveyors, the GBTEA proudly represents the highest standards of building and construction across the island of Guernsey